I was kept in the biggest toy store of the town – 'JK Store'. I was sitting nicely with hundreds of other teddy bears. Some were big . Some were small . Some were very cute too. I was also very cute, so many children used to pick me up and play with me. It continued for many days till Nisha picked me up. Her father agreed to take me home. So I went happily with Nisha and her father to their home.

I reached Nisha's home and could see many toys and gifts lying in her room. It was Christmas time so the room was full with many toys and gifts. Also with many chocolates and toffees. Nisha loved me very much. She used to curl my body .She used to hug me very tight and love me a lot. I felt very proud among all other toys she had.

But as many presents kept coming Nisha got more interested in more new toys. And slowly I was kept in the side and felt very neglected. Nisha now hardly even looked at me. She had so many new toys to play now. I used to feel very sad and cry a lot. One day Nisha's mother asked her to pick the best toys which will be kept. Nisha did not pick me. As usual I was left unattended for many days in the basement.

One fine day when I woke up, I found myself no more at Nisha's house. I was thrown out in the dustbin outside their house. I kept crying like a baby. But no one could hear me. Suddenly a poor child came near the bin and started smiling at me. He then picked me up and started playing with me. He was so happy seeing me . I also started feeling good. He took me to his house.

At his house I found his name is Lucky. Lucky used to love me a lot. Unlike Nisha he had no toys at his house. So he was very happy getting me and playing with me. He always used to keep me with his side and never live me alone. I was very happy with him. His family also loved me and my togetherness with Lucky. We all now stay in a small hut of Lucky with all the love around me. I am very happy now.
